

YOUTH MEDIA VIDEO SLAM 2007

Calling all youth ages 13-20.
Urban Visionaries Film Festival wants YOU!

WHEN :: Thursday March 29th, 4-6pm
WHERE :: Museum of Television and Radio, 25 W. 52nd St.,
Manhattan, NYC
HOW MUCH :: Free

What's a Video Slam?

Based on the "poetry slam," a video slam is a competitive event where youth-made films are slammed before a live audience. A youth jury will determine the top three winning films. There's also a Best-in-Slam Audience Award.

An Open Call to Youth Filmmakers

Please email rsvp@listenup.org with your name, film title and name of your organization to RSVP your film.

Show up at 3:00 pm sharp at the Museum of Radio & Television to register... screening slots are VERY limited (you do not have to pre-register, but priority given to those who RSVP). No videos will be slammed without the filmmaker present. RSVP @ www.listenup.org/events/slam/

Screening Formats

DV or mini-DV tapes are preferable. Tapes must be cued to the place you want to begin. DVD's are acceptable, but must be clearly marked which menu item to play. We'll screen between 3-5 minutes of your film (depending on number of entries for the competition).

No Purchase Necessary

EVERYBODY is invited to come, even if you didn't make a film. Admission is absolutely free, the SLAM starts at 4:00 pm sharp. Filmmakers must register at 3:00 pm.

Prizes & Awards

There are prizes for the top three jury picks and the audience award for Best-in-Slam. Don't be surprised if the audience is showered with prizes as well.

What is the Urban Visionaries Festival?

Celebrating its tenth year, Urban Visionaries is produced, promoted and presented by NYC youth activists and media makers ages 21 and under. Urban Visionaries is a collaboration between youth media makers from NYC based youth media organizations including the Educational Video Center, Downtown Community Television Center,

Global Action Project, The Ghetto Film School, Listen Up!, MNN's Youth Channel, The Museum of Television and Radio, Reel Works Teen Filmmaking, T.R.U.C.E.

Need more info?

Please contact:

Matt Griffin at Listen Up!

Email: matt@listenup.org

Phone: 212.725.7000

RSVP your film at www.listenup.org/events/slam/ or www.urbanvisionaries.org

For more information and free tickets to other Urban Visionaries Festival screenings at the the Museum of Television & Radio on March 29th and 30th, call Bekah Fisk at the MT&R at 212-621-6663.

The 2007 Urban Visionaries Video Slam is made possible by generous funding support from Adobe Youth Voices and the Listen Up! Youth Media Network.

