Iran's Nuclear Ambitions: The US and Iran at Odds

For each of the following focus questions provide complete sentence answers that have been developed through research over the past few days. Your working group will be asked to report on your investigation during the next class meeting.

1. What was the particular case assigned to your group? When did it take place?

2. List, and briefly describe, the major participants in this historical episode. These can be nations, organizations, and individuals.

3. Write a short paragraph that summarizes the nature of this event.

4. What were the main issues at stake in this case from each of the major participant's point of view?

5. What was the immediate outcome of the event?

6. What has been the long term impact of this event on US/Iranian relations?

7. Speculate: what role has the nuclear weapons proliferation issue played in your particular case study?
